Crete Island

Crete is the largest and most populous of the Greek islands, the 88th largest island in the world and the fifth largest island in the Mediterranean Sea, after Sicily, Sardinia, Cyprus, and Corsica. Crete rests about 160 km (99 mi) south of the Greek mainland, and about 100 km (62 mi) southwest of Anatolia. Crete has an area of 8,336 km² (3,219 sq mi) and a coastline of 1,046 km (650 mi). It bounds the southern border of the Aegean Sea, with the Sea of Crete (or North Cretan Sea) to the north and the Libyan Sea (or South Cretan Sea) to the south.

Heraklion Regional Unit

Heraklion is the largest city and the administrative capital of the island of Crete and capital of Heraklion regional unit. It is the fourth largest city in Greece with a population of 211.370 (Urban Area) according to the 2011 census.

Heraklion was Europe's fastest growing tourism destination for 2017, according to Euromonitor, with an 11.2% growth in international arrivals. According to the ranking, Heraklion was ranked as the 20th most visited region in Europe, as the 66th area on the planet and as the 2nd in Greece for the year 2017, with 3.2 million visitors and the 19th in Europe for 2018, with 3.4 million visitors. Heraklion is one of the most popular athletic destinations in Greece and many International Championships are organized every year.

Municipality of Hersonissos

Hersonissos is one of the most popular tourist resorts in Crete, located 26km east of Heraklion. Hersonissos has developed due to tourism and, in just a few decades, has grown into the largest tourist resort in Crete. Hersonissos has about 3,000 permanent inhabitants (2,981 in the 2001 census), but this number increases exponentially each summer, with the thousands of seasonal workers in tourism, and of course the hundreds of thousands of tourists who come to Hersonissos on holiday.

Sightseeing of Heraklion & Hersonissos

Just beyond the city limits, explore the much vaunted Knossos, one of the most significant sights on the island and in Greece. The most important center of the Minoan civilization, the palace of King Minoas and the home of the myth of the Minotaur.

The Bronze Age palace of Knossos, also known as the Palace of Minos, is located 5.5 km (3.1m) southeast of the city.

At the entrance of the port of Heraklion don't miss, Koule Castle. During the Venetian domination it was known as Rocca a Mare or Castello a Mare or Castello that is a fortress at sea. It finally prevailed to be called "Koules", a name derived from the Turkish name Su Kulesi. It was built on the site of an older fortress that had suffered severe earthquake damage in 1303.

The Kazantzakis Museum pays tribute to the important intellectual, author, thinker, philosopher, politician and traveler Nikos Kazantzakis. The Museum is made up of a cluster of buildings in the central square of the historical village of Varvari, now known as Myrtia. The Museum Exhibition is housed on a site formerly occupied by the home of the Anemoyannis family, which was related to Nikos Kazantzakis'

The Museum was founded in 1983 by set and costume designer Yiorgos Anemoyannis, a pioneering figure in Greek theatre. His fundamental aim was to preserve the author's memory and promote his work and thought.

Aquaworld - Crete's first aquarium - is in Hersonissos, Greece. Displays local sea life and reptiles from everywhere. Hands-on interaction with many of the animals is encouraged. Most of the animals are rescued or were injured animals which now have a loving home at Aquaworld.
